FUNDING MECHANISMS

1. Reimbursement: The applicant keep receipts of his/her expenses. He/she submits them after he/she incurs the expense, or after the event is concluded. The I&M Society promptly reimburses the applicant for the expenses he/she incurs.

If the applicant is financially limited relative to the expected expenses, the I&M Society can also arrange one of the following:

2. Advance funding: transfer to the local IEEE Section to be dispersed to the applicant. To use this option, the applicant should feel comfortable with his/her relationship with the local IEEE Section, such that the applicant trusts their accounting for him/her and their responsibility in prompt disbursement of the funds. Please supply the bank information for the local IEEE Section's bank (obtained from the Section treasurer). This information must include the Bank account number, SWIFT, Owner of the Account, and any other relevant identification information. The applicant's first submission does not need to include this information, but he/she will need to provide the information in adequate time to arrange the transfer of funds.

3. Advance funding: transfer to a chapter-dedicated bank account. The applicant should allow plenty of time prior to when he/she needs to expend the funds (at least a month, preferably more) to ensure that the transfer has been properly arranged. Please include the relevant bank information required for the transfer.

If the applicant is asking for an IEEE check, he/she should determine how easily he/she can convert it to cash, and how long it will take.

If advance funding is required, please indicate the date you wish the advance funds to be in place. (An approximate date can be used for the application package.)

If you request a financial transfer in advance of your expense, you must submit a report of the actual expenses no later than one month after the event has concluded.

If any of that advance funding was not spent the remaining funds are to be returned.

The I&M Society reserves the right to decline fund transfers that are considered inappropriate, such as transfers to personal accounts.

Receipts for all expenses must be submitted in the Final Report.
